Snyder Urges Tax Reduction Action At Once

War Mobilization And Reconversion Director Calls Upon Congress For Action

RECONVERSION PICTURE GIVEN

By ROBERT G. NIXON
U. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Reduction of personal and corporate income taxes in the "immediate future" was urged upon congress today by John W. Snyder, director of war mobilization and reconversion.

Snyder called for repeal of the three per cent normal tax on individual incomes and the excess profits levy as of next Jan. 1, and establishment of a definite date for the reduction of wartime excises to the 1942 level.

Disclosures Made
His recommendations were made in the fourth report of the office of war mobilization and reconversion which also disclosed:

1. Nine million 700 thousand will be released from the armed forces by next July—six million 700 thousand from the army and three million from the navy.
2. Eight million persons may be unemployed by next spring.
3. The sugar shortage will continue for a time but should begin to ease by next spring.
4. Rationing of trucks and commercial vehicles will end Nov. 1.

Restore Purchasing Power
He said that repeal of the three per cent normal tax on individual incomes "would restore purchasing power to every person who pays an income tax." He said the step is particularly important in the low income groups.

Snyder reported that the OPA (Continued on Page Two)

PA NEW OBSERVES

New Castle and Lawrence county made the transition from Daylight Savings time to Eastern Standard time over the week-end with little confusion, and this morning everything was regulated on Standard Time once more.

Thirty-eight per cent of the motor vehicle-grade crossing accidents during 1944 occurred at crossings protected by gates, lights, bells or watchmen, according to the National Safety Council.

Service flags which were up during the length of the war at numerous places around the city are being removed, apparently in the belief that with the war over the service flags should be taken down.

With surfaces of many of the streets of the city nicely improved during the summer, a little freshening up on the street signs on these thoroughfares would help appearances.

Improvement being made in the State street hill, now nearing completion, will be a big safety factor this winter and in the future. The narrow bottlenecks at the top and bottom of the hill are being eliminated. Especially noticeable will be the elimination of the protruding curb at the bottom of the hill where Grant street is entered.

Pa Newc has discovered another survivor of the old wooden covered bridges in Lawrence county. Down a winding little road on the route leading from the Mt. Jackson high-

Last Paper Collection Best Held In Months

Although no weights were available today for the waste paper salvage collection, the total seems to be one of the best held in months. It may have been because this was the last collection under the present constitution committee, or it may be that housewives were getting their fall house cleaning underway.

Saturday's collection was sponsored by the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, the Jamestown Memorial Hospital Junior Guild, women of the New Castle Hospital, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., Salvation Army and Rescue Mission. The net proceeds will be divided between the organizations upon the basis of the number of adult workers furnished by each.

Smooth Operation
Saturday's collection was a smooth operation. With sufficient adult workers present it was possible to load the paper promptly as it arrived with little or no scattered paper littering the yard near the B&O team tracks.

The centennial service of the American Red Cross was on the job with (Continued on Page Two)

Roving Pickets Close More Mines

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 1.—(INS)—Shutdowns in western Pennsylvania bituminous coal mines jumped to 86 today as roving pickets closed 13 additional pits while operators again rejected John L. Lewis' proposal for a meeting to discuss union recognition for mine bosses.

These idle mines were in addition to at least 30 in West Virginia and Kentucky.

The Pittsburgh and Altoona offices of the Solid Fuels Administration reported production in western Pennsylvania was off more than 50 per cent and over 40,000 miners idle.

Legislation For Proposed Seaway Being Prepared

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—(INS)—Legislation to carry out the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence river development project is ready for Senate introduction this week.

Proponents of the seaway and hydro-electric power undertaking have reached accord on a joint resolution approving the U. S.-Canadian 1941 agreement and directing President Truman to negotiate a compact with the governor of New York on the planned power facilities.

The bill, which Senate Majority Leader Barkley may introduce tomorrow, is slated to be referred to the Senate foreign relations committee—by-passing the commerce committee where it ran into trouble before.

Supporters of the giant project disclosed that Sen. Bailey (D-N. C.), commerce chairman, has agreed that the measure properly comes under jurisdiction of the foreign relations committee. He was expected to advise his committee of that view at its meeting today.

President Truman, it was reliably indicated, will follow up the legislation at a later date with a message to Congress urging its approval.

YWCA Conference Elects Helen Hazen 1946 Co-Chairman

Miss Helen Hazen of the Tri-City of the local Y. W. C. A. was elected co-chairman of the next conference at this year's conference of young business and club women of the Y. W. at Wheeling, West Virginia, Saturday and Sunday.

Among the 106 conferees were 13 from the New Castle Y. W. C. A. Miss Helen Hazen, Miss Mary Ferreri, Miss Shirley Gaston, Miss Floy Owens, Miss Mary Tewell, Miss Ruth Jamison, Miss Lillian Ekblom, Miss Margaret Williams, Miss Marjorie Brooks, Miss Betty Hamm, Miss Marian Ochampaugh, program director for the younger girls, and Miss Marguerite White, executive secretary of the Y. W. C. A.

With "The Time is Now—Retool Your Thinking" as the theme, the girls divided into discussion groups from which they derived many new ideas for their work in the Y. W. C. A. Dr. Clara Hardin from the National Staff was the principal speaker for the conference.

Meeting in Ogilvie Park in Wheeling, the girls stayed in cabins over the weekend.

Classes at Ben Franklin Junior High will meet as usual.

Fire Damages K. Of C. Home

Blaze Early Sunday Morning Threatens Structure On North Jefferson Street

FIREMEN PREVENT FLAMES SPREADING
Fire of undetermined origin threatened the Knights of Columbus Home at 24 North Jefferson street at 2:40 a. m. Sunday and caused damage which is believed by officials of the organization will be near $10,000. The loss is fully protected by insurance, but it will be some time before repairs can be effected and the home made usable again.

Officers of the society are at a loss to understand what caused the fire. They were in the building Saturday night until around 12:30 o'clock. The fire apparently started in the kitchen, but there was nothing in that room which could have caused a fire, the officers stated. The gas having been turned off.

Firemen Do Good Job
When Assistant Fire Chief W. H. Hawk arrived at the scene in response to the first alarm at 2:40 o'clock he stated that there seemed (Continued on Page Two)

MacArthur Orders War-Built Banks In Japan Closed

Edict Orders 21 Institutions To Be Closed—Crushing Blow At System

AIMED AT JAPAN'S WAR MAKING POWER
By JOHN R. HENRY
U. S. Staff Correspondent

Tokyo, Oct. 1.—Spokesmen for the Japanese finance ministry expressed the belief today that Gen. Douglas MacArthur's edicts closing 21 war-built banking institutions would cause no interruption in public transactions.

The ministry spokesmen urged the people to be calm in the face of the headquarters directive which shut down 21 big banks including those which served Emperor Hirohito and his family.

Guards Outside Banks
American guards were posted outside the affected banks of Japan's great financial empire whose main purpose was to finance imperialistic war activities over half a century.

The Japanese people accepted the closing order calmly and there were no demonstrations since small depositors were not affected. Japanese financial authorities, however, expressed concern regarding the voiding of stock issued on Japanese ventures in territories in China, Korea and the South Pacific.

Much stock, including issues by the Manchuria railway and the China Development company, was bought by families of Japanese soldiers.

The Tokyo newspaper, Yomiuri Hochi, predicted that if such stock were voided, panic will ensue. It was not immediately made clear (Continued on Page Two)

Bank Of Japan Records Being Probed By Allies

By JOHN R. HENRY
U. S. Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Oct. 1.—Allied authorities were searching the records of the temporarily closed bank of Japan today for possible connections with 21 other Japanese banking institutions shut down by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The Bank of Japan and two other banks—the Hypothec Bank and the Yokohama Specie Bank—were temporarily closed in order to allow examination of their records.

The Hypothec and the Yokohama Specie opened for business this morning and the Bank of Japan was expected to re-open Tuesday.

Held By Government
Preliminary examination of the Bank of Japan disclosed that fifty-five percent of the stock was owned by the Japanese government and twenty-five percent by the Imperial family.

Examination of the 21 banks which MacArthur ordered liquidated on the charge that their sole purpose was to finance Japan's Imperialistic wars was expected to involve further Hirohito and his family as well as other wealthy Japanese.

Investigators at the Bank of Japan discovered gold and gold stocks earmarked for puppet governments in Siam and Indo-China and gold held for the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

The Americans failed to find large amounts of coin believed removed by the Japanese from the Philippines and the Dutch East Indies during the war.

Westinghouse Office Workers Strike At End

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 1.—(INS)—The 21-day strike of eleven thousand "white collar" workers ended today in 14 Westinghouse Electric company plants and offices.

The strikers voted yesterday to return to work after the CIO United Electric, Radio Machine Workers threatened to call a strike of its 80,000 members in 26 company plants if the "white collar strike" was not ended.

Return of the office workers brought resumption of full operation in Westinghouse's East Pittsburgh plant, where 19,400 CIO workers had been furloughed during strike, and resumption of negotiations with the Federation of Westinghouse Independent Salaried Unions.

Guard Is Killed In Holdup Effort

(BULLETIN)

DETROIT, Oct. 1.—(INS)—A Brink's guard was shot and killed today and a would-be bandit was wounded in an attempted holdup of an armored car in front of the Detroit bank at State and Griswold.

The dead man is William Hill, a Brink's employee for 12 years. Wounded was Richard Ruff, Jr., whom police have in custody. Ruff was shot twice, once below the right shoulder, by another Brink's guard, John Schauer. Police said the Negro admitted being the only one in the hold-up.

Deliberations Are Resumed In Oil Strike

C. I. O. Head Reports Settlement With Two Small Detroit Refineries

NO SETTLEMENT OF OVERALL STRIKE
By PHILLIPS J. PECK
U. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—O. A. Knight, president of the CIO oil workers union, today reported the "first break" in the petroleum strike picture, a contract settlement with two small Detroit refineries.

Knight, however, held out no hope for any immediate solution in the overall disturbed industry situation.

Deliberations Resumed
Knight made his announcement as the oil conciliation conference resumed deliberations at 10 a. m. EST with both labor and management looking to the government for the next move in resolving a stalemate which already has prevented beyond the tentative deadline set for settlement.

"There has been the first break in the strike situation," Knight announced. "At 2:30 this morning I approved the settlement of a strike at two small plants in Detroit—the Keystone and Aurora refineries."

Possible Government Courses
Three possible courses of action were open to the government as the conciliation conference, which failed to make any progress Sunday, was in session today.

Summoning of the conferees to the White House for personal intervention in the controversy by President Truman.

2. Announcement of a new government "reconversion" wage policy which would offset to some extent reduced earnings resulting from war production cutbacks and giving labor a face-saving opportunity to compromise its current demands.

3. Government seizure of struck refineries and other oil properties in eight states.

Both Standing Pat
An industry spokesman said that both sides were standing pat. The companies, he said, have made no offer above their original 10 per cent increase and the CIO oil (Continued on Page Two)

U. S. Determined Gen. MacArthur To Remain Top Man

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—(INS)—The United States is determined today that Gen. Douglas MacArthur will remain as top man in any plan for the occupation of Japan that may be devised by the newly-created commission for drafting detailed control operations.

The commission was arranged for in London by Secretary of State James F. Byrnes as a concession to Russia and Great Britain. It will meet in Washington in the near future and will prepare the way for a control council for the Far Eastern war area.

Responsible sources in Washington have made clear, however, that this does not indicate that the United States has receded from its position as announced in the peace arrangements and in first instructions given MacArthur.

CALCUTTA, Oct. 1.—(INS)—The American Transport Company's world circling plane, the Globemaster, landed at the Bagdogra airport today at 9:40 a. m. EST.

ABOARD THE WORLD-CIRCLING GLOBEMASTER en route to Calcutta, Oct. 1.—Beyond Karachi, ahead of schedule, the world circling C-54 transport Globemaster sped with its passengers today toward Calcutta, India.

The flight to Calcutta began this morning and whisked the air travelers across India with the same speed with which the early legs of the journey from Washington were covered.

The Globemaster left Karachi at 1:15 a. m. EST and was expected to arrive at Calcutta at 8:10 a. m. EST.

Not Seeing Anything
This correspondent began to get a frustrated feeling while over North Africa after deciding that we are well on the way to establishing the unique all-time record of circumnavigating the globe without seeing anything.

The things seen so far consist mainly of a fine collection of air transport command airports. There has been no time for sightseeing on the trip.

The first bit of foreign color appeared at Tripoli when barefoot Arabs wearing leazes swarmed over the Globemaster to service the plane in an hour-long stop.

After retreating at Casablanca, we flew out so fast we never sighted a single Arab.

Tripoli Air Base

The Tripoli air base was part of an auto race track which was built by Mussolini. The grandstand still was visible from the base control tower which was constructed like a native minaret. Here the GI's pray that all planes will land safely.

Burton Sworn In As New Justice

President Truman Sets Precedent By Being Present At Oath Taking

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—(INS)—President Truman set a precedent today and motored to the supreme court to see former Sen. Harold Burton of Ohio take his seat for the first time on the high court bench.

The president sat quietly in front of the rostrum during the brief ceremony. He was accompanied by members of his White House staff.

The ceremony, taking less than five minutes, was begun as Chief Justice Harlan Stone paid tribute to the court career of Associate Justice Owen J. Roberts, whom Burton succeeded.

Burton then repeated his oath of office and took his place with other justices at the bench.

Vinson Gives Congress Tax Reduction Plan

Secretary Of Treasury Recommends Some Reductions In 1946 Taxes

WOULD CUT OUT 3 PER CENT TAX
By FRANK B. ALLEN
U. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Treasury Secretary Fred M. Vinson today presented to congress the administration's tax reduction program designed to cut federal revenues by five billion dollars in 1946.

Vinson recommended elimination of the three percent normal tax on individuals, the 95 per cent excess profits tax on corporations, and the end of war-time excise taxes on July 1, 1946.

The secretary presented the program to the house ways and means committee as it began intensive hearings on the first post-war tax reduction measure.

Not Over Five Billions
After considering all factors, economic and budgetary, Vinson testified, "it is my considered judgment that total reductions should not exceed five billion dollars for 1946."

In recommending repeal of the three percent normal tax on individuals, Vinson estimated there would be a loss of revenue of two billion, $5 million dollars.

Elimination of the excess profits tax will reduce revenues by another two billion, 555 million dollars, he said, while reducing war-time excise taxes on July 1 next will further cut federal income by 547 million dollars.

Vinson also recommended that Congress take no action now on the question of whether, or not to allow pay roll taxes for old-age insurance to increase from one to two and a half percent on Jan. 1, 1946.

Payroll Rate Revision To Wait
He pointed out that the whole problem of social security coverage and financing is now under "active consideration" in congress and expressed the opinion that "revision of pay roll tax rates should wait to be made part of the broader action on social security financing as a whole."

In presenting the administration's tax program, Vinson pointed out that it took five major acts of tax legislation in four years to bring federal revenue up to its wartime peak.

"I am sure you will agree," he told the committee, "that more than one step will be necessary to convert the war-time tax system into a post-war system."

He asserted that wartime financial burdens of the federal government "do not end easily or quickly" and added that "war and its aftermath will keep federal expenditures high for months to come."

Labor-Management Conference May Be Called At Once

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—(INS)—Secretary of labor Schweinfach announced today that industry and union leaders will meet with him Friday to consider a proposal that the labor-management peace policy scheduled for November 5 be convened at once to deal with the rising wave of industrial strife.

Schweinfach's announcement came as the oil-strike conciliation conference resumed its negotiations this morning but made scant progress toward ironing out the wage dispute. The dispute has resulted in an eight-state walk-out of 30,000 workers and threatens to involve 250,000 oil industry employees on a nation-wide scale.

Many former members were among the crowds that filled the church to capacity for all services.

Dr. J. Boyd Tweed, professor of Biblical literature at Geneva College, a leader in the Reformed Presbyterian church, was the speaker at the afternoon homecoming service. He spoke on "Dreams of Yesterday and Visions of Tomorrow."

Special music at the homecoming service included a vocal solo by Mrs. Walter Luikart, and instrumental selection by her son, Robert Luikart, a solo by Mrs. Margaret Chalk and music by a choir of former members of the church.

At the morning service, Rev. Paul E. Aley, pastor of the church, spoke on the sermon topic, "Our Duty at Peace."

In the evening, a half-hour program of vocal duet music was sung by Mrs. Martha Shaw and Mrs. Francis Barnes, well-known singers. Their presentation was followed by a play, "Eyes That See Not" by the Youth Fellowship group of the church.

A pheasant is a pretty bird, of varied colored hue, his neck is red or green or brown with just a touch of blue. Or maybe it is something else I would not argue that, but I know the difference that a pheasant and a hen has between them. This pretty bird has larceny in his veins, he robs my corn and strips the cobs, maybe he has a brain, but he is smart enough to know, when corn is ripe I'd say, for he enjoys my little patch, it's seventy nine today.

ject 20,000 In State Because Of Tuberculosis

Many Not Suffering From Disease
Or Danger To Others Says
State Health Department

HARRISBURG, Oct. 1.—(INS)—Secretary of Health, Harry W. West, said today that 19,383 Pennsylvania residents suspected of tuberculosis had been rejected or deferred by the armed services between November, 1940, and September 1, 1945. "It should be understood," he emphasized, "that a large majority of these rejected men are not suffering with active tuberculosis and are not a danger to others."

West, who based his report on state selective service records, did not reveal whether registrants deferred for medical observation had been accepted for service later.

Men suspected of tuberculosis were deferred by the department to state-operated clinics.

Pennsylvania's program of following up its men rejected for military service because of tuberculosis and seeing that they are placed under treatment when required," he said, "will arrest the progress of many early cases, improve the prospect of cure in all cases and protect the family and other individuals."

The large number of rejected men was large, West explained, because army standards were high. Registrants were turned down even though lesions in lungs were healed and the men were in apparent good health, he added.

It is not known whether or not some different set-up will be presented for the collection of waste paper on whether Saturday was the final one. It was the final one under the OGD set-up. Whether or not it was the final one, it is still a fact the New Castle Paper Salvage Committee has done a grand job.

Joseph A. Hartman, as chairman, and Numa P. Vidal, co-chairman, have had each collection well organized. J. Fred Clarke, president of the Lawrence County chapter, Lawrence Savings and Trust Company, has supplied trucks for each collection. Frank Sargent, city coordinator of the OGD had his forces on the job and many volunteer adults have given many Saturday afternoons to the work.

will continue to stabilize the cost of living and the general level of business costs but will "suspend price ceilings, product by product, as soon as this can safely be done."

He gave an optimistic picture of reconvalescence but frankly stated the nation must recognize that the transition to a stable and expanding economy "will be marked by many abnormal situations."

Unemployment, he said, may rise to eight million by next spring, and the exact toll will depend upon how fast reconvalescence and expansion can be accomplished.

Unemployment Higher

"Between V-J Day and the first week of September," total unemployment doubled to about two million," the report stated. "By next spring, with demobilization running at better than a million a month, unemployment may rise to about eight million."

But the report said: "After a brief decline, there will be a period when business is expanding, men are going back to work, and total employment is mounting. Normally, we should expect to see unemployment declining at a time like this, but high unemployment will persist through 1946. This will be because men and women will be coming out of the armed services faster than industry can possibly re-employ them."

to be a big ball of fire in the kitchen and fire was coming out several of the windows in the rear. Firemen did an excellent job of keeping the fire confined to the kitchen, which is located in the northeast corner of the building and the rooms directly above it on the second and third floors, but the entire building suffered smoke and water damage.

A contractor has been secured to give officials of the society an estimate on the cost of repairs today, which will give them some idea as to the exact loss. Grand Knight Joseph Flynn stated:

Second Alarm

When firemen arrived in response to an alarm from box 25, it looked as if the fire might turn out to be of serious proportions, and a second alarm was sounded, six companies responding on the two calls.

The blaze is said to have been discovered by a passer-by, who notified Officer Dan Williams, who turned in the alarm.

Fire Chief James E. Thomas is conducting an investigation today to try and determine the cause, and make an estimate on the damage.

WAR BUILT BANKS IN JAPAN CLOSED

whether or not all stock issues of the affected 21 institutions were to be voided by occupation authorities.

Crushing Blow

The sudden closing of the banks was the most crushing blow yet aimed at Japan's economic rulers and subsequent investigation may definitely link members of the great financial-industrial family combines with war crimes.

Although the bank of Japan, the Yokohama spec bank and the Hyogo bank were still operating, their affiliates which handled war machine financing were being liquidated by the directive which said there was "no longer any need for the functions they filled."

Col. Raymond C. Kramer, head of MacArthur's economic and scientific section, made it clear that the closing order was "one step" in the project to make certain that the Japanese will not have the economic freedom necessary to rebuild a war machine.

The order did not affect small Japanese depositors since savings banks were untouched. Most small depositors place their funds in postally insured banks were not affected by MacArthur's order.

Meanwhile, the Japanese announced that all home island troops except those on Kyushu would be mustered out and returned to their home by the allied deadline of October 15. Repatriation of three million Japanese troops overseas will require considerable time in view of the shipping shortage.

Research specialists at the Pennsylvania State college estimate the average yearly production of honey in Pennsylvania at approximately five million pounds.

SECRETARY SCHWELLENBACH

Secretary of Labor Lewis Schwellenbach, in whose office representatives of the big oil companies and the CIO oil workers were battling today over wage demands, occupies the current "hot spot" cabinet position.

But in Schwellenbach, the nation has a competent, fighting believer in fair play for all with plenty of practical experience in a rough and tumble world.

Born 51 years ago in Superior, Wis., at 14 he was suddenly left fatherless in Spokane, Wash. He immediately went to work and earned his law tuition as a messenger boy, newsboy and railroad worker.

After serving briefly as an enlisted private in the army during World War I, he practiced law in Seattle, where he deflected labor's right to picket, battled the power trust, unsuccessfully ran for governor and in 1934 was elected U. S. senator.

After serving as one of the White House's chief supporters in the upper chamber of congress, overwork obliged him to refrain from running for re-election in 1940 and he was appointed to a judgeship in his home state.

A few weeks ago President Truman, with whom Schwellenbach had served in the senate, called him back to Washington to become the labor boss of the U. S.

Local Boy Writes About Jap Typhoon

City fireman and Mrs. W. Roy Samuels of Fairmont avenue have received a letter from their son, William Roy Samuels, Jr., R. M. 2-C, in which he tells about the fury of the typhoon which struck the Japanese archipelago about two weeks ago.

He stated that when they were in a harbor in Okinawa where the storm warnings were received and put out to sea to try and escape it. Instead their ship ran right into the storm, and their vessel, the Cruiser U. S. S. Miami was badly battered.

Men were injured about and a number suffered broken limbs, and one member of the crew was lost at sea during the storm. It took members of the crew several days to escape the sea-sickness caused by the big blow.

The ship is now on its way to Tokyo, he stated.

DELIBERATIONS ARE RESUMED IN OIL STRIKE

Workers Union has not changed its position since modifying its initial 30 per cent demand to "25 to 30 per cent."

Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach previously emphasized that the wage dispute, which has made some 30,000 oil workers idle and threatens to affect 250,000 more, is to be settled over the weekend.

The industry and union representatives met in joint session for several hours yesterday without progress. Schwellenbach and his aides conferred separately with industry representatives and met late into the night with union leaders.

Phone Workers Threaten Strike

While government labor experts devoted their entire attention to the petroleum crisis, the general industrial relations picture—with nearly 400,000 workers idle because of strikes—took a turn for the worse by the threat of work stoppages among 300,000 telephone workers.

The National Federation of Telephone Workers' voiced its resentment over recommendations of an examiner of the National Labor Relations Board for dissolution of the alleged company-dominated Western Electric Employees Association.

Coal Strike Situation

At the same time observers anxiously watched the nation's coal fields for any signs that the strike of mine foremen, which already has closed down 70 mines and made 35,000 workers idle, is approaching a settlement.

United Mine Workers' President John L. Lewis said his 400,000 production members could not continue on the job if supervisory employers struck.

T-5 Dennis L. Royston has been returned to this country after 15 months service in the Pacific area and has left California for Walter Reed hospital, Washington, D. C., where he is expected to arrive shortly.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Royston of Park avenue.

T-5 Royston participated in the invasions of Iwo and Okinawa and was stationed on Okinawa before his return to the states.

WORLD CIRCLING PLANE IS AHEAD OF SCHEDULE SET

We flew alternately over the desert and the Mediterranean. Sight of the desert made me feel that Mussolini must have been hard up for an empire when he grabbed off this territory.

Flying over the desert where the Nazi Afrika Korps and the British Eighth Army used to chase each other, big military trucks made by Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces when they tried to get away from British Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery were visible.

Over Cairo we had a fine view of the Sphinx when the plane circled overhead to double the passengers a close-up of Egypt's famous site.

WASHINGTON CALLING

By MARQUIS CHILDS

Atomic Bomb Noise Overshadows Discoveries

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The real meaning of the scientific research that led up to the great discoveries of the war has hardly been discussed at all. Like small boys on the Fourth of July, we're so impressed with the noise that we never stop to think of why or wherefore.

Some of us the other afternoon heard a group of scientists explain how the proximity fuse came into being. Overshadowed by the atomic bomb, this small discovery was possibly even more important in bringing the war to a close than the bomb.

It is a five-tube radio sending set fitted into a six-inch fuse which, in turn, is inserted in anti-aircraft and artillery shells. This miniature sending set can be adjusted so that when its beams strike a surface—the wing of an airplane or the ground—an impulse is sent back which explodes the shell.

In other words, the mind of man has fashioned a brain that tells the shell at what distance from a target to explode.

Germany Worked on Same Device
The Germans were working desperately to get this same device. They sent spies to our shores, instructed to find out what progress we were making.

They finally achieved a model which was not in production on V-E Day. If they had, it would have been impossible because of the devastating effect of shells equipped with proximity fuses on massed troops.

The mass of shells have been impossible. Into the discovery of the proximity fuse and its fascinating science—physicists, chemists, astronomers, electrical engineers. Different groups were assigned different problems. Sometimes two or three groups were working toward the same goal so that if two failed, one might succeed.

At the top was a co-ordinating force that pulled it together—the center of this remarkable nervous system linking so many first-rate minds with so many different skills. In the same way, the Office of Scientific Research and Development kept in touch with all the scientific projects covering every phase of war research.

The tempo with industry was very close. Industrial technicians and researchers were in on the whole project. The Navy gave it unlimited backing.

Pattern for Solution of Man's Ills
Nothing like this has ever happened before. Here is the pattern for the solution of all man's ills. If only we had the courage to use it in peace as well as in war.

Who can say how long it would take to discover the cause and the cure of cancer or infantile paralysis with 600 or 800 men and women working together toward a common goal?

As these scientists talk about their work, you can catch a glimpse of this other world of infinite possibilities. They have seen it. For a brief time, working under the stress of national peril, they've been a part of it.

And how that peace has broken on them, as they see it disintegrate. The conference and the strength that were in it are running away like quicksilver. You can hardly believe that it ever existed.

It has its downright idiotic aspect, this process of tumbling down an organization that could be used to win a war but not a peace. Young men of genius and skill who worked four years on the fuse project are being drafted into the Army. These same young men begged and pleaded, yes, and went to be allowed to go to uniform.

But they were deferred as essential to the existence of their superiors. Now these brilliant young men who are the nucleus of our science of tomorrow are being put into the Army to do routine mental jobs. It is the kind of thing that defies sanity, to say nothing of simple justice.

The team approach to scientific discovery has its dangers. These men see that. One is the danger of government domination of scientific education, perinaps of all education.

But having had a vision of another way of life, they are more aware than most of us of the conflicts and distortions of what we laughingly call normalcy.

WEDDING TEARS

There was weeping at the wedding and I turned away my head. I reached to take a prayer book from the stall.

I tried to find the passage by the parson being read. But the printing on the pages was too small.

I knew I heard her saying: "For better or for worse." In sickness and in health, till death do part.

For round about were many who have lived what brides rehearse. And knew life's "worse and better" all by heart.

I gave the prayer book over, since the page I couldn't find. But I knew why certain eyes were filled with tears.

And the vows weren't hard to follow—they were stamped on many a mind.

That had followed, and had kept them down the years. (Copyright, 1945, Edgar A. Guest)

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 5:46. Sun rises tomorrow 5:53.

Our returning soldiers should be taken care of no matter what it costs.

A lawn is like a face. It takes a lot of attention to keep it looking nice.

A local woman says her husband's average income is about mid-ninth.

A burglar, who had entered a poor minister's house at midnight, was disturbed by the awakening of the occupant of the room he was in. Drawing a revolver he said:

"If you stir, you are a dead man. I'm hunting for your money."

"Let me set up and strike a light," said the minister, "and I'll hunt with you."

No one was ever right all of the time.

Do you know any diet system that produces the results aimed for?

A kind-hearted preacher asked a man in jail how he happened to be there. The fellow said, with tears in his eyes, that he was coming home from prayer meeting and sat down to rest, fell asleep, and while he was asleep there the county built the jail around him, and when he awoke the jailer wouldn't let him out.

Schools and colleges could add a course of common sense to good advantage.

Our café expert was sitting in an eating place the other day when a pretty girl and a middle-aged man came in. The waiter started taking the girl's order and noted that she hadn't ordered a favorite seafood.

"How about the lobster, miss?" he asked.

"Oh, he can order for himself," the girl said, glancing at her escort.

The only knowledge we are born with is how to eat and drink—and else must be learned.

Speaking of smoking, some people can't get along even at mealtime without hauling out a cigar, and puffing smoke in the faces of other diners. Maybe they think the others like it. Anyhow, it reminds us of an instance we observed not long ago at a restaurant.

"Do you mind if I smoke?" asked a man as he plunked down at a cafeteria table.

"No, at all," you can turn for all of me," sneered the man seated at the table.

Marrying a man because he has one virtue is as foolish as rejecting another because he has one fault.

Hez Hech says "Joe Squash claims that it's only thing that prevents dishonesty from paying is being caught."

Nearly all folks who get into trouble know better.

At one of the war plants a worker showed up one morning with a black eye, a swollen lip and other troubles.

"What in the world happened to you?" asked the foreman.

"Well, boss, as near as I can figure it, I was talkin' when I shoulda been listenin'."

On for the good old days when continued stories were meant to be novels instead of scenarios for Hollywood.

Is there anything in the world more desirable than having sense?

When a crowd gathers we usually find most of the no-accounts in town there.

Many of the things we do would be done differently if we could do them over.

The discharged GI veteran was taking a civil service examination for the job of mail carrier. One of the questions was "How far is it from the earth to the sun?"

He studied the question seriously for a moment, and then wrote: "If you are going to put me on that route, I'm resigning before I begin."

Romance and secret marriage gets by, and the next generation of Germans will be half American, British or Russian.

The Parent Problem

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

SECOND GRADE'S DIFFICULTY

"Dear Dr. Myers: We have a son, our only child, 7½ years old and in the second grade. The teacher has had considerable trouble with him being lazy in doing his work. She puts numbers on the board and when she gets his papers he has 123456 instead of what she has given him. If she stands right beside him, he will do it right."

There have been ten new words a week starting with Monday. If we do not help him, he does not get them until Friday. He insists on doing Mirror Writing as the teacher calls it, making all these letters backwards—b, d, p, q, c, 7, 3. We have a terrible time with this and have had him make pages and pages of these. It seems impossible for him to remember.

Studying Words
"Every night in the week we have this battle about studying words. My husband usually works with him, either with the strap on the table or by pronouncing some words. He gets the words, but only to forget them next day. I tell my husband I think that is wrong."

"I think he should repeat the year and my husband said it would be humiliating to all of us if he had to stay there another year, all his little school friends would laugh at him and shut him. But I say that if he goes on it will be the same thing in the third grade only harder and if he stays there next year and knows the work it will be easier and maybe a bit more interesting."

About as follows, I replied: Whether or not a child should be promoted is best decided as a rule by the teacher. The problem is not his parents' face and feelings, but what is best for the child. Unless there is strong guarantee that he will be given in the next grade the steps in basic skills chances of succeeding next year would be best if he repeated the grade.

I wish I might persuade Dad to put that strap away when the lad is trying to learn. Good book learning is not accompanied by fear and pain. The few words the boy does learn and so much emotional strain naturally soon slip away. Unless Dad can be wholly calm and cheerful and helpful with a gentle voice, he should quit trying to help that lad with his lessons. Right as you are, it only makes Dad worse to tell him he is wrong.

Doing the right thing once is much easier than doing it twice.

"Halt!" yelled the sergeant to a new squad of recruits. But one of them marched on.

Jones, what were you doing before you joined the army?" yelled the sergeant.

"A horse trader, sir," replied Jones.

When the squad was marching again, the sergeant cried: "Squads halt! Jones, what?"

Those who pretend to know the most, know the least.

That boy and his mother were the words on the blackboard. Here his vision faded. I wish the teacher did not diagnose him as merely lazy.

Let me urge that you try to win Dad to employ a calm teacher to work with this boy at home. Whoever helps this child should not have him work at a sitting on all fours and figures he writes backwards to him on only one side, seeing the letter in a mirror of familiar words he finds on the page of a book or newspaper.

He should be read to and encouraged to read easy materials of primer difficulty, interesting and well-illustrated. Many suggestions are offered in my bulletin enclosed. Help helps for poor readers, part I. Please be patient with that child.

It is axiomatic that it is much easier to exploit human weakness than to correct them, and far more profitable.

It is better to sit in the back row and be discovered than to be discovered while sitting in the front row.

Maritime Commissioner Land Given Priority
Shipbuilding Record One Of War's Triumphs
Merchant Marine Is Also Lauded For Record

By HELEN ESSARY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—While the grateful public is pinning medals on the fluttering chests of war heroes, there is one worthy chest that remains undecorated—the chest of Vice Adm. Emory Scott Land.

You know Admiral Land, chairman of the United States Maritime Commission, administrator of the War Shipping Administration and United States member of the combined shipping adjustment board of United States and Great Britain. He's Jerry Land to the world of ships and politics, and to half the rest of the American citizenry.

But for all this large acquaintance, he great achievement in the Allied war effort has not yet won him a post-war ribbon of merit. Nor enough praise to be heard above the din of parades honoring the returning conquerors.

Men who know ships are enthusiastic about Jerry and his job. They say that without him and his War Shipping administration, the war, certainly the Pacific war, could not have been won.

Outblitz Submarines
For no matter how many guns, men and supplies, and how much food this country had to offer, the guns, men, food and supplies were useless unless the could be transported to the theater of battle action.

Our merchant fleet was in a sad state at the outbreak of the war. The state got sadder by the day—sunk by the hour.

German submarines were sinking our merchant ships fast. The masts of destroyed vessels stood up like porcupine quills along the Atlantic coastline.

What was to be done? Oil and food simply had to be got to our fleet and Allied fleets in distant waters at once! The only way these necessities could be sent there was in ships.

But how to combat the U-boats and their deadly aim? There was just one way said Jerry Land. Build ships faster than the Germans could sink them.

Admiral Land set to work with a flourish. Swearing in and out of shipyards. Alternately smiling with praise and profanity. He didn't stumble because, at first, he was given almost no guns with which to win the new battle.

The guns that Land did receive were obsolete. They couldn't compete with enemy aircraft. Down went many of the new tankers and supply ships, unprotected as they were.

But the Maritime commission and Admiral Land undauntedly kept both feet on the accelerator. Pull speed ahead in all the shipyards, big and little was the order. During the war years, from January, 1942 until September, 1945 the commission built 31,406,000 ship tons. Or about 3,304 ships.

Think of the number—3,304 ships in less than three years.

Would Keep Ships
Now that this superb achievement has reached its climax, and the war is won, some people are saying: "We don't need all those ships. What use have we for such a man-made merchant marine? Let's scrap most of it."

Silly, wicked people! So it seems to me a layman, The United States Navy could not have worked so splendidly without the aid of the merchant marine. The Navy and the merchant marine are partners. Or should be.

And what about our peace-time trade? Don't we need ships for that?

I'm a filthy soul. I'd keep every ship we have. Obsolete or brand new. Navy or merchant marine.

Where would I keep them all? Oh, I'd run them up here and there and about the creek of Chesapeake Bay if I couldn't think of any other calm beach in this busy country.

Incidentally, Admiral Land, contrary to rumor, is not going to resign from the maritime chairmanship. He has, so he says, an almost bigger job now, fishing to keep a merchant marine alive than he had during one of life.

LOOKING AT LIFE

State Industrial Picture Is Bright For Ensuing Year

Department Of Internal Affairs Issues Optimistic Forecast For 1946 In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Oct. 1.—(INS)—The department of internal affairs today painted a bright industrial picture for Pennsylvania in 1946.

Reports compiled by 493 representative manufacturers for the department of internal affairs indicated total industrial employment exclusive of mining and quarrying would reach an estimated 1,345,000 persons next year while wages would approximate four billion dollars.

Average wage earners, the report indicated, would receive approximately $2090 during the year.

Secretary of Internal Affairs William S. Livergood, Jr., explained that the department compared manufacturers estimates of 1945 wages and salaries with actual totals for 1939 to arrive at the conclusion.

Increased Employment
On the basis of the reports, he said, employment would amount to 20 per cent more than the 1,120,781 workers registered in 1939 while wages would total 88 per cent more than the $2,092,549,100 paid that year.

The value of products would increase an estimated 85 per cent to $7,111,028,100, Livergood predicted on the basis of the survey.

He pointed out, however, that an estimated 302,000 fewer workers would be on payrolls next year than were listed two years ago.

"It should be emphasized," Livergood said, "that any estimated figures of this kind are necessarily subject to any uncertainties and it must not be overlooked that new factors, at present unforeseen, may change the expected course of events."

Employment obviously would be curtailed, he added, in "plants which expanded under the impetus of heavy war orders."

Java In Throes Of Revolution

Slogans In Batavia Mostly Quoted From U. S. Declaration Of Independence

By CLARK LEE (U.S. Staff Correspondent)

BATAVIA, Oct. 1.—A real revolution for Indonesian independence was going on today in Java outside the city of Batavia.

In Batavia—where native leaders have the ready ears of foreign newsmen—there is lots of shouting but little shooting.

In the hinterland there is shooting.

Slogans painted on street cars and buildings in Batavia mostly quoted from the Declaration of Independence and similar documents say:

"The Monroe doctrine—America for the Americans and Indonesia for the Indonesians."

"Better to go hell than to be colonial."

"Self determination by Indonesians!"

"Life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness is the right of all nations."

Attacking Japanese
Outside of Batavia, desperate bands of Indonesians are attacking the Japanese—some 50 of whom have been killed since the surrender—and are seizing arms which they intend to use against the Dutch or any other people who interfere with their desire for freedom.

The Dutch, through Doctor Vanderplaa, their spokesman, have announced their intention of carrying out Queen Wilhelmina's promise for the eventual independence of the Netherlands East Indies under the throne.

It was said, however, that the Indonesians want complete independence without any connection with Holland.

At a news conference Doctor Vanderplaa announced the apparently sincere plan for giving Indonesians independence "within two or three years."

Vanderplaa said that within the next two weeks he would give all parties, including extremists, the opportunity to express their views.

Three Soldiers To Face Court-Martial For Killing Japs

TOKYO, Oct. 1.—(INS)—Three troopers of the U. S. First Cavalry Division face an American court-martial tomorrow on first degree murder charges in connection with the fatal shooting of two Japs.

The American soldiers are charged with killing a Japanese and his son during a brawl in a house near Yokohama September 15.

This will be the first murder case involving American soldiers to be tried since the occupation of Japan began.

Names of the defendants were not immediately disclosed.

DISINFECTION

This is a big word which seems to mean different things to different people.

It means freeing or cleansing from something which might cause disease.

The process of disinfection depends somewhat on the article to be disinfected and also on the kind of infection.

If under clothing is properly laundered it is made safe.

If eating utensils are properly scalded and washed with soap they are clean.

Hands are cleansed by thorough washing with soap and water.

Disinfection does not always mean the use of some deadly gas or strong chemical, although they may be useful sometimes.

Sometimes burning is the only satisfactory method of disinfecting an article.

Sterilization means freeing from all living or viable organisms.

Disinfection does not necessarily mean sterilization.

Disinfection means the removal of life or bugs or other insects.

Disinfection goes a little farther than that.

A yellow flag on a ship means there is a contagious disease aboard.

Will Present War Souvenirs To U. S. Towns

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—(INS)—The war department put machinery into motion today for immediate donation of surplus army tanks and guns to American towns, organizations and museums.

This action was authorized by the secretary of war's office and involves an estimated four thousand field artillery items valued at between ten and fifteen million dollars.

Approximately half of the battle equipment—hurled against the enemy during both world wars—are 22,000-pound tanks. Also included are huge 155 mm guns weighing 6,000 pounds.

An ordnance intelligence officer said requests for the firearms will be handled immediately under a "first come, first served" policy.

To Make Disposition

He said that ordinarily the weapons would have been scrapped but decisions were reached to make gift-disposition of them in appreciation of organizations and municipalities which donated disaster armament to wartime scrap drives.

The ordnance office was said to have been deluged already with requests from all over the nation for obsolete guns to be placed on greens and in other show places.

In addition to every American city, town or village, these organizations are eligible to call on the office of chief of ordnance for the historic battle property.

Such recognized veterans groups as the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Soldiers Monument Associations and posts of the Grand Army of the Republic and Sons of Veterans Reserve.

Organizations which contributed material in early scrap drives and state museums as well as institutions operated for educational purposes.

Officials of organized groups and of local governments will foot the packing and shipping costs. It was pointed out that they would be advised before acceptance of the equipment of expenses involved. Collection will be made upon delivery.

Why Not Wait Till They Are Seniors?

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 1.—When upper-class students at Westminster college promulgated freshman week rules they thought one of their cleverest was that prohibiting the men from shaving. The rule backfired. Most of the men entering college during this immediate postwar period are 16 and 17-year-olds. At the end of the week they were showing only a slight fuzz. Ex-service men in the class were exempt from freshman rules.

POULTRY CANNIBALISM TAKES PROMPT CONTROL

Cannibalism, frequently a problem in pullets soon after they start to lay, requires prompt action. Unless this vice is halted quickly, it may spread through the flock. Keeping pullets uncomfortable and contented when first confined to laying quarters is one way to avoid cannibalism. Keeping litter shallow at first and frequent feeding of small amounts of scratch feed will keep pullets busy. Keeping houses cool and well ventilated will help keep the birds comfortable.

If oats are available, they should be fed quite liberally to newly housed pullets, since oats seem to help in controlling cannibalism. Small amounts of green feed or good quality leafy hay fed daily also have value in preventing this vice.

Should cannibalism get started try darkening the nests, removing or extending the lighting perches farther from the front of the nests, and adding about one per cent of salt to the mash ration. As a last resort, anti-pick devices can be attached to the beaks of the birds.

Governor Martin Pays Tribute To American Press

Issues Statement Hailing National Newspaper Week: Proud Of Record

HARRISBURG, Oct. 1.—(INS)—Gov. Edward Martin paid tribute today to the press for its service in recording and supporting the war effort.

The chief executive charged the fourth estate with the responsibility of helping the nation clear reconstruction obstacles.

"During the most terrible war of all history the newspapers of the commonwealth have done a magnificent job of keeping the people informed of the progress of the struggle and fundamental issues involved," Martin said in a statement hailing National Newspaper Week.

"They have added immeasurably to the victory drive through vigorous support of bond sales, salvage drives, anti-inflation campaigns and numerous other patriotic activities," he added.

"This war record, of which every member of the newspaper profession may be justly proud, is a challenge to even more vital public service in helping to solve many vexing problems of reconstruction and the establishment of a permanent world peace," the governor asserted.

Members of the governor's cabinet joined him in lauding newspapers for their public service.

Secretary of Public Instruction Francis B. Haas said "their support of the many and varied contributions which our public schools and colleges have been privileged to make to our national war time effort has been indispensable."

A free press, said Secretary of Labor and Industry, William H. Chenut, "is essential to international and domestic peace."

Secretary of Internal Affairs William S. Livenood Jr. said newspapers must continue to print all the news "regardless of consequences."

National Newspaper Boy Day will be observed October 6, according to the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association.

AID ATOMIC PROJECT
STATE COLLEGE, Oct. 1.—The Pennsylvania State College is represented by 28 graduates on the special engineering detachment of the government's atomic bomb center at Oak Ridge, Tenn., the College has been informed. Only four other institutions have larger representations.

A covered lifeboat, said to be un-sinkable and self-righting, has been developed in Sweden.

HALF A 'CHUTE SAVED HIS LIFE
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—(INS)—Half a parachute is better than no parachute at all. Lt. Joseph J. Rosa, Providence, R. I., B-26 navigator, who is now being processed at the AAF redistribution station No. 1 here, insists. When half his chute was ripped away while he bailed out of his burning plane over France, he dropped 11,000 feet to safety on the other half.

U. S. JEEPS LEAVE ROADS OF BRITAIN
LONDON.—(INS)—With the employment of 25,000 trucks and jeeps to the United States the roads of Britain will be almost entirely empty of American vehicles by January next.

Ports at Barry, Wales and Liverpool, and a crating plant at Cheltenham, manned chiefly by German prisoners of war, will each ship 300 vehicles out of Britain.

A new fluorescent test with ultra-violet radiation is in use at the Schenectady, N. Y. plant of General Electric Co. to show up normally invisible defects in aluminum castings.

Lilies-of-the-valley are among the easiest of flowers to grow indoors. When ordering for indoor planting be sure to designate "cold storage pups."

Hyacinths can be grown in glasses made for the purpose. From the latter part of October to the end of November is the best time for setting hyacinths in glasses.

When forcing bulbs use only named bulbs. The bulbs in the cheaper mixtures are inferior and can seldom be forced with satisfactory results.

Chief Executives Of Big Five May Have To Meet Soon

Problems Left Unsolved By Conferences Of Big Five Foreign Ministers

LONDON, Oct. 1.—(INS)—The possibility was seen today that the chief executives would have to meet shortly to untangle important problems left unsolved by the conferences of their foreign ministers.

Such a meeting would have to be held soon to assure progress of discussions by the foreign ministers at a future session, the diplomatic expert of the London Daily Mail said.

The opinion that the leaders of the major powers would have to take over personally for the time being was expressed as the foreign ministers council prepared for what was believed would be the final meeting of their conference.

The principal negotiators conferred twice yesterday, with the last session breaking up at 1 o'clock this morning. The ministers were scheduled to reconvene at 6 p. m.

Big Problems Arise
Vital matters involving principles which must be settled at the highest levels have arisen at the conference. It appears that no solutions can be reached by consideration of deputies of the big five.

Therefore it was believed that the world leaders—President Truman, British Prime Minister Clement Attlee, Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin, French Provisional President Gen. Charles De Gaulle and China's Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek—would have to step into the breach.

The view in diplomatic circles was that talks by the top men of the big five governments may be the only way to break the deadlock which has tied up the discussions of the foreign ministers.

The principal aim of a meeting of the government leaders, it was felt, would be to provide a fair chance of success for the next meeting of foreign ministers.

The question of such a conference probably will be considered as soon as the foreign ministers in London return of their respective capitals.

New Castle Store Grows Up With Two Local Generations

Grandmother may have shopped in The New Castle store, but she might not recognize it now, in the year of its fortieth anniversary. When she first stepped inside to look at petticoats or ribbon for hat streamers, or trimmings for a suit, the store was a small, two-story establishment farther up East Washington street.

There was a sales force of 12 to wait on grandmother and her friends, instead of the present regular force of 180, and the Christmas force of 220. Back then, near the first of the century, the store's main offering was yard goods and now it is one of the fashion centers of the town, with 23 main departments and a number of subdivisions.

Minority Report Says Roosevelt Should Pay Tax

Report Filed In Connection With $200,000 Loan Probe By Committee Of Congress

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—(INS)—Minority members of the House Ways and Means committee declared today that Elliott Roosevelt and his former wife should be taxed on their $200,000 loan from John Hartford if the A & P grocery official is entitled to deduct the loan as a bad debt.

Their report was filed with the House by Rep. Knutson (R-Minn.), who quoted Hartford as saying he was given the impression that he and his brother were "earmarked" for the loan by the late President Roosevelt and that he advanced the money because "I did not want to do anything to incur the enmity of the President."

The minority members dissented from a majority decision which concurred with the revenue bureau's opinion allowing Hartford to make a $196,000 deduction on his gross income.

Separate Statement

Rep. Jenkins (R-Ohio), one of the dissenting members, made a separate report in the form of a statement prepared for insertion in the Congressional Record. He concluded with the allegation:

"To my mind the facts are clear that the President (Roosevelt) initiated this loan."

Knutson said that as the case now rests the Treasury stands to lose the tax on the loan, which according to Hartford's testimony, was settled for $4,000 by former Commerce Secretary Jesse Jones, at the request of the late Mr. Roosevelt. Knutson declared "that must not be permitted."

"If John Hartford is entitled to a deduction of $196,000 on his gross income, positive steps should be taken to collect the tax on $196,000 income from Elliott and his former wife (the present Mrs. Ruth Roosevelt Edson)," the minority report said.

The report criticized the committee for not calling the principals in the case and declared that "the public interest is not served by allowing this matter to be buried." Testimony was taken by the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

You can do it by saving more used fats... every drop you can scrape or skim. It's as urgently needed as ever. So keep doing it, won't you?

You women of America have done a magnificent job of saving used fats during the war, but victory has not ended the need. The fat supply for the manufacture of soap and other long-wanted products is millions of pounds less in 1945 than it was in 1944. That is why the government offers four ration points instead of two for every pound of used fats you turn in.

By skimming, scooping and scraping every last drop of used fat and turning it in to your butcher, you can help increase your own home supplies of soaps, soap flakes and powders more quickly. And not only soaps. But the nylons, cottons, electric washers, irons, refrigerators, automobiles and hundreds of other peacetime products we've all been waiting for. These fats you save in your kitchen are urgently needed to help get these things back into production... and back to you... more quickly.

So won't you keep up the good work now in peacetime? You'll help fill your own needs for soaps and speed the production of the civilian goods you're dreaming of. Remember, every drop of used fat is still vitally important. Keep saving, won't you?

Your Used Fats help make the Peacetime Products you want

Street Car Tracks No Place To Sleep

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 1.—(INS)—From now on when Samuel O'Hara decides to sleep outdoors, it's not going to be on a street car track.

O'Hara, who was in a South Side hospital today, suffered severe cuts and bruises about the body when he was struck by a street car while he lay asleep on the tracks.

Motorman John Weber said the front wheels of the trolley stopped only six inches from O'Hara's body, and that it was necessary to jack up the street car to extricate him.

Two Youths, Armed, In Custody Here

P.R.R. Police Patrolman Phil Benninghoff Captures Two Youths In Mahoning Yard

Tony Kook, 13, of 1191 Niles road, and Steve Conit, 14, of 2058 Youngstown road, both of Warren, O., took care before they left home without consent of their parents that they would be prepared to meet the enemy, hence they were held in detention here today after having been caught by Patrolman Phil Benninghoff Sunday morning in the Mahoning yards of the P. R. R. Kook had a loaded U. S. 32-caliber revolver and a pearl-handled knife. Conit possessed a Scout knife, according to Patrolman Benninghoff.

He turned them over to city authorities, who had them confined in Lawrence county juvenile detention home during the night.

Authorities will inquire as to where Kook obtained the revolver before he is turned over to his parents.

AROUND CITY HALL

Should the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania concur in the resolution adopted by the delegates to the League of Third Class Cities convention held at Harrisburg during the latter part of last week the attendance will have been a financial boon to third class cities because they asked in a resolution for distribution of one-half the state's cigarette tax revenues be given political sub-divisions.

Councilmen D. O. Davies, James Gibson and Joseph D. Alexander were the council delegates, Dr. W. A. Womer, health superintendent, and W. A. Moore, city controller, also attended the sessions.

Other proposals which were reported unfavorably would have placed the league on record as favoring a return to communities of a part of 20 per cent federal theater admission tax and a "more equitable" distribution of U. S. government grants for postwar work.

The organization re-elected: Walter E. Greenwood, Coatesville, president; Mayor Charles Barber, Erie, vice president; Chester Rogers, Easton, secretary, and Lewis S. Heine, New Kensington, treasurer.

Dr. Harold P. Alderfer, State College, head of the state internal affairs department's municipal affairs bureau, warned smaller communities that they must be "on their toes" if they want to receive Federal aid for postwar projects.

Dr. Alderfer added that respect for local government officials would increase "measurably" if they mapped improvements to better living conditions in their communities.

No one will deny that city officials experienced a nightmare because of heavy snows last winter. Street and airport officials of some cities are now interested in equipment to clear away the deepest and hardest snow without blasting or shoveling. There is a new rotary plow which has controlled snow placement and a snow rake that can eat its way through drifts to break packed and frozen snow. Another machine eats into snow loads, packs them and hauls it away.

Some municipalities can express their gratitude to returning servicemen by issuing medals to them according to "The American City".
